DEDICATION

As we conclude our college experiences we have come to treasure the many wonders of life. Let us take this time to look at the wonder of friendship. Where does one begin to define the gift of friendship? It appears as though it can never be fully expressed in mere words; a puzzling thought when you realize that life evolves around the ability to communicate.

How then, is it possible to express heartfelt gratitude to an individual who has, without effort, opened himself to so many people in a myriad of ways bestowing in each of us a special gift of love? Easily we can recall the countless occasions he has dropped everything to offer words of comfort or provide a listening ear. Of course there are all the thoughtful deeds he quietly undertakes to make life a little simpler for all of us. Let us not forget the manner in which he allows us to realize that all the wonders that we seek are within ourselves. To continue describing the infinite actions of such an individual would be to err in the sense that they would make concrete the boundries of his unsurmountable dedication to life and especially to all of us here at Merrimack. Seeking nothing in return, he has further instilled in us the realization of life as a gift made beautiful through giving of ourselves. For these reasons, and so very many more, we are able to define the gift of friendship — you, Fr. Joe Gillin.

It is our desire to express our appreciation to you through continued sharing and loving all those whom we encounter along life's paths, and through the dedication of our yearbook, the Merrimackan 1983, to you.

CAMPUS LIFE

RESIDENT LIFE: There's No Place Like Home

"There's no place like home" — you don't have to go to the Land of Oz to realize that, just try living away from home or rather living at school. Unlike Oz, there are no munchkins or good witches to help us along the way, in fact, no longer is any one there to cook your favorite meals, wash your clothes, or clean your room. Instead we have Saga who seems to think our favorite meal is a toss up between quiche and some Chinese concoction. As for cleaning our rooms, well, I guess we like that lived-in look.

Unlike Oz, there is no yellow brick road taking us away to a fantasy, rather there is a long, grand path leading from our dorm or townhouse to classes. Yet, how short could we make that trip when late for classes?! One would never know you woke up at 9:29 for your 9:30 class.

As for looking into crystal balls to remind us of home, well, the telephone and mail will have to do. Just think of those many times when the telephone seemed our only link to communication and then remember the bills that proved it wasn't.

We will always remember the good friends and the fine times we had here. Unlike Oz, our friends did not consist of a scarecrow, a lion, and a tin man, but rather people with a brain, courage and a loving heart. With them, we shared many late night talks, midnight drives to Busy Bee's or Store 24, wild parties, and many hangovers. Yet through it all we saw living away from home wasn't the Land of Oz — it was better!

COMMUTER LIFE

What is it like to be a commuter at Merrimack College? The life of a commuter is a unique entity unto itself.

It begins with getting up at 6:30 a.m. for an 8:30 class and somehow managing to be late anyway because your car won't start or six inches of snow fell overnight and crusted on your windshield. It means facing a mass exodus of cars with a variety of Merrimack stickers on windows and bumpers on routes 114 and 125, all converging at once and all wanting the same parking space; the one where the car won't be dented, scratched, or skidded into in the winter time.

To be a commuter sometimes means having to decide between lunch or gas money, books or snowtires. It means not having a room to crash in after classes and therefore spending your spare time in the commuter cafe, library, or Perkins Lounge trying to get your homework done in order to be at work that night. It means having to face work and Mom the morning after the night before.

The commuter life does have its good points though. It also means you don't have to deal with roommates you don't like, community bathrooms and indigestible dinners. Best of all, when we get bored or are really going crazy, we can get into our cars and go HOME . . .

COOPERATIVE EDUCATION

The thought of graduating and becoming an active part in the "real world" intimidates and scares many people. Will I fit into the atmosphere of a large corporate environment? Will I be able to measure up to the expectations of management? How long will it take before I get bored with the nine-to-five routine? The question which is probably foremost in prospective graduates minds is: Will I even get a job?

Participation in the Cooperative Education Program enables students to have these and many other questions answered. The invaluable experience they obtain allows them to develop effective professional personalities and narrowly define career objectives. Not only are they exposed to various facets of a firms mechanics, but Co-op students also make connections which could be important to their future.

The impact that Merrimack women and men have throughout the surrounding community is greatly influenced by the success of the co-op program. Firms, large and small acknowledge the value of our co-op students, realizing that with each term experience comes the development of a person who can play a significant role in their future. With experience being an almost universal criterion in the job market today, those involved in the co-op program find their job searches less worrisome and more successful.

WHO'S WHO

Each year universities and colleges throughout the country select outstanding senior and junior students to "Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges." The criteria for selection includes student scholarship, participation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities, citizenship and service to the school, and promise of the future.

Merrimack is pleased to select the following students to represent the College in the 1982-1983 edition of "Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges."

Give me work to do;
Give me health;
Give me joy in simple things.
Give me an eye for beauty,
A tongue for truth,
A heart that loves,
A mind that reasons,
A sympathy that understands;
Give me neither malice nor envy,
But a true kindness
And a noble common sense.
At the close of each day
Give me a book, And a friend with whom I can be silent.

To all of you who helped to build this recap of our days at Merrimack College, we thank you.

Joan Fasanello and Susan Rocha
Co-Editors

A New World

I awoke this morning with devout thanksgiving for my friends, the old and the new. Shall I not call God the Beautiful, who daily showeth himself so to me in his gifts. I chide society, I embrace solitude, and yet I am not so ungrateful as not to see the wise, the lovely and the noble-minded, as from time to time they pass my gate. Who hears me, who understands me, becomes mine — a possession for all time. Nor is Nature so poor she gives me this joy several times, and thus we weave social threads of our own, a new web of relations; and, as many thoughts in succession substantiate themselves, we shall by and by stand in a new world of our own creation, and no longer strangers and pilgrims in a traditionary globe. My friends have to come to me unsought. The great God gave them to me.

Ralph Waldo Emerson
